PRESS INFORMATION

College Facts: Location—Princeton, N.J. 08540; Colors—Orange and Black; Nickname—Tigers. Enrollment—4400.

Press Box Facilities: The Palmer Stadium press box can hold 200 people, so there is no problem in filling most requests. However, we do ask all press to notify us two weeks in advance for press box space.

Press Box Ticket Pick-Up: Press box tickets are mailed one week in advance of the game. On any late arrangements, the tickets can be picked up at the ticket window.

Photography: Our games are covered by Bob Matthews (452-4363). We can have game photos ready the next day. Any special requests should be in to me two weeks in advance.

Photography Passes: They are limited to daily newspaper, student newspaper, wire service and team photographers. All requests must come through the office of sports information, and should be made a week in advance of the game.

Parking: All media people are requested to park in Lots 4 and 15 opposite the stadium towers. Parking tickets are mailed out a week before the game. For any late arrangements, our office is open from 10-12 a.m. on Saturdays.

Radio Booths: We have space in our press box for seven radio stations. Priority is always given to our two commercial stations and our student radio station. All visiting stations must contact the phone company giving my name for proper location.

Radio Coverage: The two commercial stations are WHWH in Princeton, with Howard David doing the play-by-play and Herb Hobler the color, and WVNJ in Newark which takes a feed from WHWH. Our student station — WPRB — also broadcasts Princeton football both home and away.

Midweek Sports Luncheon: Each Thursday, starting at 12:15 sharp, there will be a press luncheon with Coach Bob Casciola in Room A of Princeton's Prospect House. All press people are welcome to attend. The luncheon will also feature a phone interview with the visiting coach.

Team Dressing Rooms: They are located in Caldwell Field House, which is adjacent to Palmer Stadium.

Post Game Press Conferences: The Ivy League voted to discontinue formal post game press conferences two years ago. Coach Bob Casciola will meet with all writers after the game, near the dressing room, but requests a 10-minute cooling-off period for himself and a 15-minute respite for his players. Later in the year, we may make changes in this policy. Your press box ticket will admit you to Caldwell for post game interviews.

Press Box Phones: We have one for general use and one for telecopier use.

Telecopier Requests: Princeton has one telecopier which it will rent to any paper at a fee of $15.00 per game, on a first come, first serve basis. We are also serviced by Sportscomm.

Spotters: We can provide them if you give us one week's advance notice. The established fee in the Ivy League is $10.00.

Press Box Services: We provide half-time and end of game stats, play-by-play sheets and scoring summary. Refreshments are distributed throughout the afternoon.

Ticket Information: Princeton's ticket manager is John Johnston who can be reached at 452-3538. (See information on inside back cover.)

Attendance at Practice: We would appreciate any advance notice of your intentions to attend a team practice session.

Availability of Coach: During pre-season, Coach Casciola would appreciate it if you could confine your interview periods from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and from 6:00 to 7:30 in the evening. During the season, he is available on Sundays between 2:00 and 4:00, and from 10:00 to 12:00 from Tuesday through Friday. On Mondays, he will be at the New York Football Writers luncheons.

Fan Phone: Princeton University's fan phone will start on August 15 and run through June 30 of 1976. We plan to update it every day, if possible, with late scores, quotes, interviews and feature ideas. The number is 452-3545.

Sports Information Director: Phil Langan — office phone (609-452-3568); home phone (609-896-1398). Assistant S.I.D.: Bob Cornell — home phone (609-443-5940).

Player Interviews: They must be arranged through the sports information office, so we can arrange a time that will not interfere with the student's academic schedule.

Sports Information Secretary: Mrs. Helen Lewis who can be reached at 609-452-3568.

Sports Information Office: We are located in Rooms 10 and 11 on the second floor of Jadwin Gymnasium.

Princeton's football home, Palmer Stadium, was formally dedicated on Oct. 24, 1914 when Princeton beat Dartmouth, 16-12.

PRINCETON YESTERDAY AND TODAY

Princeton University was founded as the College of New Jersey in 1746 by a small group of Presbyterian clergymen who believed that the Middle Colonies, like those to the north and south, should have a college "for the education of youths in the learned languages and in the liberal arts and sciences." The charter they obtained guaranteed denominational freedom and avoided state control. After dividing its first decade between Elizabeth and Newark, the college moved to Princeton in 1756 upon the completion of Nassau Hall. The name was changed to Princeton University at the time of the sesquicentennial ceremonies in 1896.

Into the classical curriculum the college adopted at the beginning, President John Witherspoon, a Scottish clergyman, infused a strong spirit of public duty. During his administration (1768-1794) Princeton became what Woodrow Wilson described as a "seminary of statesmen." President Witherspoon himself was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, along with two early graduates. Nine alumni of Princeton, more than those of any other college, sat in the Constitutional Convention of 1787, and five of them had received their diplomas from Witherspoon. One of these was James Madison of the Class of 1771, "Father of the Constitution" and later President of the United States for two terms.

Princeton's long scientific tradition also began in the 18th century when, in 1795, it established the first professorship of chemistry in an American college.

Drawing its students from all parts of the country, Princeton suffered more through the Civil War than any other educational institution in the North. Rehabilitation and advance came under the leadership of James McCosh (1868-1888), another Scottish clergyman who became President exactly 100 years after his compatriot, Witherspoon.

Students of McCosh were influential in the development of the modern Princeton. Andrew Fleming West in 1901 organized the Graduate School. Woodrow Wilson (President 1902-1910) introduced the plan of small group instruction known as the preceptorial method. John Grier Hibben (President 1912-1932) developed plans of individual study designed to lead the student to work on his own initiative along the lines of his particular interests.

During the incumbency of Harold W. Dodds (President 1933-1957) the faculty increased, enrollment in the Graduate School more than doubled and new departments and programs were added, notably enhancing the University's reputation. This forward development continued to an even greater degree under the leadership of Princeton's 16th President, Robert F. Goheen, who succeeded Dr. Dodds in 1957.

In the liberal arts and sciences Princeton provides its undergraduate students—both men and women—with depth in an area of concentration combined with breadth in selective studies. In engineering it complements a thorough education in the basic scientific, mathematical and engineering disciplines, leading to competence in a particular field, with extensive studies in liberal arts. It follows the same broad approach to professional training in architecture and urban planning and in the broad field of public affairs.

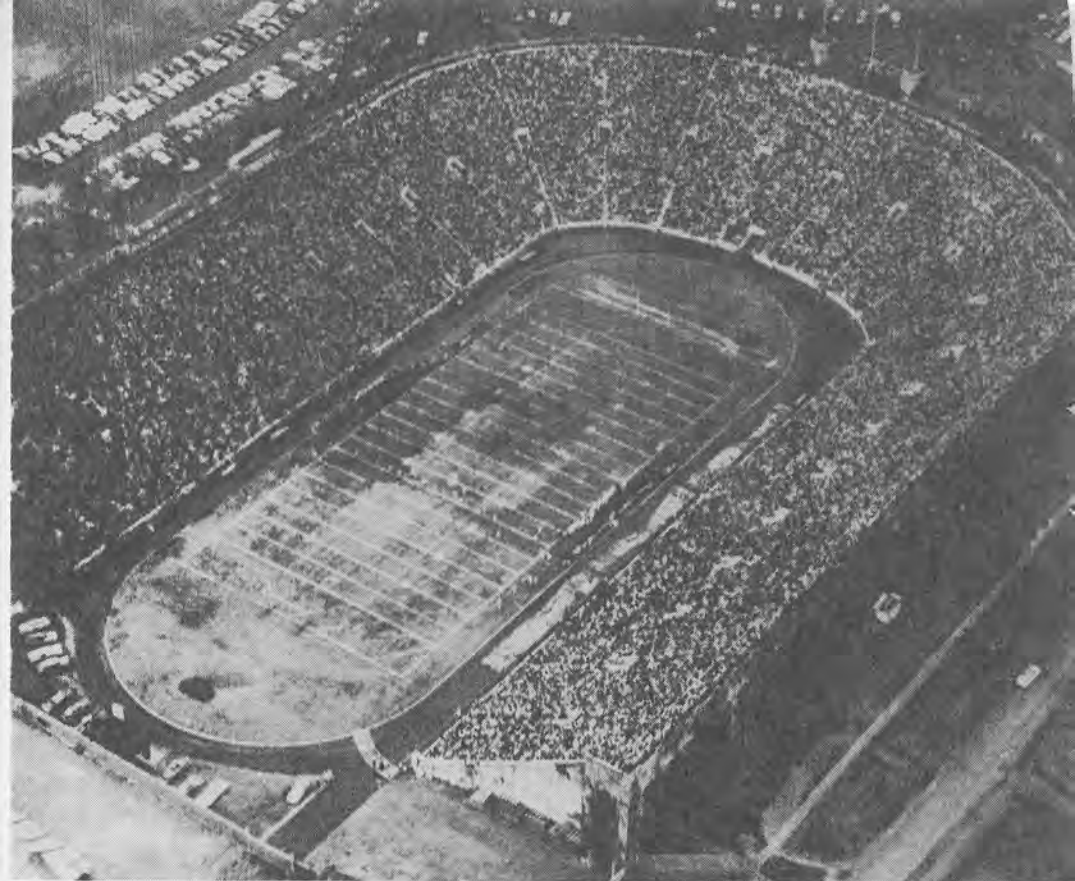

Distinctive features of education at Princeton include the preceptorials and the system of independent work for all A.B. upperclassmen (and many in engineering) and qualified sophomores. The conference method is widely used in teaching and research in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and in various special programs and seminars.

Princeton today, as it was at its founding some 225 years ago, is largely a residential college. Dormitories house virtually the entire undergraduate body. About 50 percent of the undergraduates receive aid in the form of scholarships, work opportunities or loans, or combinations of these.

Programs of study leading to advanced degrees are offered by the Graduate School in the liberal arts and sciences, architecture and urban planning, engineering, and public and international affairs, but not in law, medicine, or other professions. Formal instruction is conducted in small groups, and on the advanced levels individual supervision is the only method.

The University carries forward a far-ranging program of basic research in the physical sciences, engineering, the humanities and the social sciences. This work is supported by foundations, corporations, government agencies and endowment for this purpose.

PALMER MEMORIAL STADIUM

One of the three oldest football stadia in the nation, the 45,725-seat Palmer Memorial Stadium was dedicated on October 24, 1914 when the Tiger gridders met Dartmouth. Captained by Harold Ballin '15 and paced in the game by Knowlton "Snake" Ames '17, Princeton made it a successful debut with a 16-12 victory. On November 13, Edgar Palmer '03 officially presented the arena to the University in memory of his father, Stephen S. Palmer, and the gift was accepted at the ceremony by President John Grier Hibben and by Dean Howard McClenahan.

Since that October afternoon in 1914, many athletic spectacles have taken place in the Princeton horseshoe, among them a stirring series of internationally-flavored track meets during the late 1930's. From 1934 through 1940, the Princeton Invitational Track Meets attracted exceptional fields and widespread attention as a number of world records were set on the fast cinders of Palmer Stadium.

Football classics too numerous to chronicle have also been a part of the Palmer Stadium story. Numerous Hall of Famers have appeared in the stadium as have a host of All-American selections. Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen played key roles in victories scored here by Notre Dame teams in 1923 and 1924. Heisman Trophy winner Dick Kazmaier '52 performed his football feats of perfection here from 1949 through 1951. Undeclared Tiger teams in 1920, 1922, 1933, 1935, 1950, 1951 and 1964 left their marks on the arena's history.

Palmer Stadium has housed, too, its share of "meteorological memories". The famous "Twelfth Man" snowstorm game of 1935 and the infamous 1950 hurricane-wracked struggle, both resulting in victories over Dartmouth to complete undefeated seasons, are among the foremost.

Princeton offensive end coach Gary Fallon was a starter with the 1959 Syracuse University Cotton Bowl Team and also played in the North-South all-star lacrosse game.

WILLIAM G. BOWEN

President of Princeton University

William G. Bowen, internationally known economist and a member of the Princeton Faculty since 1958, is the 17th teacher-scholar to serve as President of Princeton University. When elected in the fall of 1971, he was completing a five-year term as Provost of Princeton, the general deputy for the President of the University.

Inducted June 30, 1972, at age 38, the fourth youngest President in Princeton's 226-year history, Dr. Bowen succeeded classicist Robert F. Goheen who in March, 1971, in the belief that the term of a university president should not exceed 15 years, requested the Trustees to accept his resignation no later than June 30, 1972, the date marking the end of his 15th year.

As the second member of the Faculty to hold the position of Provost, the post created in 1966 by the Trustees in recognition of the "ever-mounting responsibilities a university president must shoulder," President Bowen shared general oversight of university affairs, giving particular attention to the academic development of the University, to the preparation of its budget, and to coordination in long-range planning and in matters of curriculum, staff and policy.

From the outset he was deeply involved in the planning and implementation of the program which, beginning in 1969-70 with some 170 young women, launched Princeton into coeducation. Approximately 980 undergraduate women are on campus this year.

In the area of finance, President Bowen was the key figure in developing and guiding the work of the ongoing University's Priorities Committee—a 16-member student-faculty-staff group— which successfully found ways of coping with such problems as a budget deficit that threatened several years ago to climb as high as $2.0 million.

Professor of Economics and Public Affairs with a joint appointment in the Department of Economics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, President Bowen is a widely known teacher on both the undergraduate and graduate levels. As Provost and as President, he has continued to teach the extremely popular beginners' course in economics he helped to develop.

A native of Cincinnati, Ohio (born: October 6, 1933), and a graduate of Cincinnati's Wyoming High School, President Bowen received his A.B. degree in 1955 from Denison University, where he was the ranking member of the varsity tennis team and for two years swept top honors in both singles and doubles in the Ohio Conference.

He came to Princeton for graduate study, holding Woodrow Wilson, Danforth and Ford Foundation fellowships and earning his Ph.D. in 1958, the year he was appointed Assistant Professor here. He was advanced to Associate Professor in 1961 and four years later, at age 31, was promoted to the rank of full Professor. At that time he was the second youngest faculty member in the modern history of the University to attain professorial rank.

President Bowen, a facile and prolific writer whose publications, contributions to professional journals and addresses frequently catch the eye of the press, is the author, or co-author, of seven volumes as well as numerous articles, essays and reviews. His principal publications are Performing Arts: The Economic Dilemma (with W. J. Baumol), and The Economics of Labor Force Participation (with T. A. Finegan) both of which received excellent reviews.

Bowen is currently on the Board of Trustees of Denison University and a member of the Board of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the American Economic Association, and the American Association of University Professors.

A son of the late Albert Andrew Bowen and Mrs. Bernice Catherine Bowen, now a resident of South Bend, Ind., he was married in 1956 to the former Mary Ellen Maxwell of Cincinnati. The Bowens, who live in Walter Lowrie House, 83 Stockton Street, have a son, David Alan (born August 30, 1958), and a daughter, Karen Lee (born October 5, 1964).

Punter Mike Stein and placekicker Scott Morrison were named co-players of the game for their great work against Yale last season.

ROYCE N. FLIPPIN, JR.

Director of Athletics

Royce N. Flippin Jr., 41, whose football and baseball achievements in the mid-1950's constituted an exciting chapter in the history of Princeton athletics, was named Director of Athletics and Physical Education at Princeton University in July of 1972.

The 1956 Princeton graduate, a native of Montclair, N.J., and a resident of White Plains, N.Y., succeeded R. Kenneth Fairman, Princeton 1934, who retired upon completing some four decades in charge of Princeton's many-faceted athletic program which includes extensive intercollegiate and intramural programs for both men and women and physical education instruction for freshmen.

Princeton President William G. Bowen said that the appointment of Flippin "gives us at Princeton a welcomed opportunity to reassert our strong commitment to athletics and to the importance of both intercollegiate and intramural sports to the life of the University. At this juncture in the evolution of athletics within higher education, I have been determined to find someone for this position with firm commitment to the principles of amateur athletics, with a capacity to work effectively with students, coaches, and other members of the University community, and with both enthusiasm for the task and outstanding leadership ability. These are among the many strong qualities that characterize Royce Flippin, and I think we are extraordinarily fortunate to have him."

Flippin, whose background includes two years of graduate study at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration (M.B.A.), two years as an associate product manager with General Foods and five years as an investment broker with Smith, Barney & Co. Incorporated, was co-founder and president of the First Spectrum Fund, Inc. which he began in 1971.

Extremely active in community affairs in White Plains, N.Y. before moving to Princeton, Flippin was a founder and first president of the White Plains Non-Profit Housing Development Corporation and was also founding chairman of the White Plains Interfaith Human Relations Council.

Flippin and the former Louise Ferdon, of Upper Montclair, N.J., were married in 1956 and are the parents of three children: Diane, 18; Royce 3rd, 17; and Robert 14. Mrs. Flippin, a graduate with the Class of 1956 of the University of Delaware, received her Masters Degree in Special Education in 1970 from Queens College.

Flippin, who was a 4-sport athlete (baseball, basketball, football and track) at Montclair High School, earned regional and national honors in football at Princeton and received the school's highest football award, the John Prentiss Poe Memorial Cup, given annually in recognition of such qualities as "courage, self-control and modesty, perseverance under discouraging conditions, and fairness towards opponents." His father had been a great athlete at the U.S. Naval Academy in the 1920's.

Flippin also shared Princeton's William Winston Roper Trophy, presented annually to the senior best combining "high scholastic rank, outstanding qualities of sportsmanship and general proficiency in athletics." As a 3-year regular in baseball, who caught the eyes of "major league scouts," Flippin won major Princeton baseball trophies and as a freshman earned numerals in track.

An inspirational leader, who in the fall of 1955 served as Princeton's 84th captain of football, Flippin made a habit of giving outstanding performances against Yale. He was described by his Princeton coach, the late Charles W. Caldwell, as "probably the outstanding offensive-defensive football player I have ever coached."

Earning his bachelor's degree in the Department of Economics and Sociology, Flippin upon graduation, as a member of the Naval ROTC Unit, was commissioned in the United States Marine Corps and for the next two years, 1956-58, was stationed at Quantico, Va.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF PRINCETON FOOTBALL

BY William C. Stryker '50 — Director of Athletic Relations

Though it may be subject to dispute, the history of intercollegiate football and of Princeton football spring from the same beginning. A challenge hurled and accepted, a 12-mile train ride and a soccer-like struggle on a snowy day in New Brunswick all served to establish Princeton and Rutgers as the progenitors of what has been characterized as "autumnal madness." Rutgers won the game on November 6, 1869 by 6-4 with Princeton gaining revenge a few weeks later, 8-0.

Now, over a century later, Princeton's contributions to collegiate football are many and storied. Over the years, Tiger teams have posted 615 victories (second only to Yale) against 200 defeats. Along the way, 28 Princeton elevens battled their way to undefeated seasons. No less than 110 wearers of the Orange and Black earned All-American recognition on a varsity of honor teams.

Fifteen players and four coaches have gained a niche in the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame and, indeed, one of these, Dick Kazmaier '52, now serves as its president.

Three consecutive losing seasons culminated in 1973 when the Tigers won only one of their nine games. Under Bob Casciola's patient leadership, though, and the All-American performances of halfback Walt Snickenberger, the 1974 eleven turned things around by posting a 4-4-1 mark and giving every opponent notice that the Tiger was on its way back as an Ivy challenger.

From a meeting in 1873 with Columbia, Rutgers and Yale, and from a subsequent 1876 conclave including Harvard, Princeton played a major role in the evolution of early football rules.

A number of technical contributions can be credited to Princeton. Among these are the system of "downs" and the fixing of players into a line and a backfield. L. P. Smock '79 invented the canvas jacket which quickly came into general use.

In 1884, Tiger teams introduced the "flying wedge," interference, the shift principle and the spiral punt. One year later, simple vocal signals were put into use while in 1888 responsibility for signal calling was transferred from captain to quarterback.

Pre-1900 Tiger teams piled up winning records regularly, sparked by such luminaries as Hector Cowan '88 (a defensive tackle and offensive fullback), kick specialist Alex Moffatt '84 strategist Phil King '93, the famed Poe brothers — five strong and nemeses of arch-rival Yale, — kick return ace, Knowlton "Snake" Ames '90, and others equally renowned.

The early years of the 20th century saw Bill Roper inaugurate one of the most colorful coaching careers in college history. Though his tenure was divided into three periods, his overriding success through "borrowing" techniques and inspirational oratory produced a .729 record.

Kicker John DeWitt '04, "strong man" Eddie Hart '12, the illustrious Hobey Baker '14 of hockey fame, Sanford White and his feats of opportunism against Harvard and Yale all served to adorn a continuing reign of Tiger success until the war-enforced hiatus of 1917 and 1918.

The twenties were highlighted by such as Hall of Famer Stan Keck '22, mite-sized quarterback Don Lourie '22, slick running Jake Slagle '27 as well as by the 1922 "Team of Destiny." So named by Grantland Rice for its ability to translate consistent underdog status into an undefeated season, the '22 eleven played a memorable game at Chicago to defeat the University of Chicago, 21-18.

Following a drought in the wake of Roper's retirement, Princeton broke with its tradition of alumni coaching and hired Herbert "Fritz" Crisler in 1932. His .765 record over six seasons saw the rebirth of Tiger excellence which shone brightly through the unbeaten seasons of 1933 and 1935. Tremendous depth of talent marked Crisler's heyday.

Under Tad Wieman, Princeton met only modest success though passer Dave Allerdice '41 and all-around back Bob Peters '42 were crowd pleasers. From 1938 to 1941, the Tigers defeated Yale, marking the first 4-year win streak over the Elis in the long rivalry.

World War II produced a coaching change that was eventually to propel the Tiger into another era of excellence. Charlie Caldwell '25, a veteran of the Team of Destiny, came from Williams in 1945, used the popular T-formation to pump life into a near-dormant program, then installed his modern single wing which fuelled the resurgence.

The Caldwell regime produced a .694 record, replete with consecutive undefeated records and Lambert Trophies (1950-1951). Coach of the Year selection (1950), a Heisman Trophy for Dick Kazmaier (1951), six consecutive Big Three championships and a Princeton record — 24 straight victories.

Caldwell's sudden death in 1957 elevated his top aide, Dick Colman, to the head coaching job. Continuing to use the by-now curiosity piece — the single wing — Colman presided over a decade which saw Tiger teams produce a .694 mark (exactly the same as Caldwell's).

Like his predecessor, Colman coached six consecutive wins over Yale (1961-1966) and he, too, had an undefeated season, in 1964. This team was paced by All-American fullback Cosmo Iacavazzi, linemen Paul Savidge and Stas Maliszewski, and by soccer-style placekicker Charlie Gogolak.

Three times in recent years, Princeton tied for the Ivy crown. The latest was in 1969 when using the T-formation of Jake McCandless, they engineered a final game 35-7 rout of previously undefeated Dartmouth.

In its better-than-a-century of football, Princeton has been a pioneer, an innovator and a pillar of the collegiate game. It has had great moments and it has known disappointment. Always football has had a cherished place in the overall entity that is Princeton and its firm commitment to a football future is based in great part on the story of its proud past.

ROBERT F. "BOB" CASCIOLA

Head Coach of Football

Bob Casciola, an All-Ivy tackle under the late Charles W. Caldwell, Jr. on Princeton's Ivy championship team of 1957 and head football coach at the University of Connecticut for two seasons, was named as Princeton's 18th head coach of football in March of 1973.

The first year was a difficult one for "Cas" as the Tigers struggled to a 1-8 record. However the team stuck together and gave it 100 percent from the start of pre-season practice through the final seconds of the final game against Dartmouth. Of the 84 men who started the season, 83 remained at the end.

"We learned a lot that first season," Casciola remarked. "We were a new staff and it took time to get to know our personnel and to install our system. The players were great. They worked hard and never developed a defeatist attitude. That helped to lay the foundation for 1974."

The 1974 season was a rejuvenation of sorts for Princeton football followers who had suffered through three straight losing seasons. The Tigers, who were picked to finish last in the League and were given a chance at winning just one game, posted a 4-4-1 record. They were in contention in every one of the four losses and the comment heard most often around the League last Fall was "Princeton is back."

"Naturally we were disappointed at losing two extremely close games, and missing out on what we felt was a legitimate chance of beating Rutgers (a 6-6 tie), but the fact that we gave everybody a battle and won four games created a great attitude for 1975." I feel our staff did an excellent job. The assistant coaches at Princeton are exceptionally talented group of people."

Casciola spent 14 years in the Ivy League as player and coach before joining the Connecticut staff and during that period was associated with three of the outstanding coaches in the history of the Ivy League — the late Charlie Caldwell, Robert L. Blackman, now head coach at the University of Illinois, and Richard W. Colman Jr., currently Director of Athletics at Middlebury College.

Following his 1958 graduation from Princeton in the Department of Politics, he joined Colman's staff as a freshman assistant. In 1961, he was named varsity end coach, and served in that capacity from 1961 through 1965. During those seasons Princeton won 34 games while losing only 11. The 1964 team turned in the Tigers' first undefeated record in 13 years.

In February of 1966, Casciola left Princeton to become an assistant coach at Dartmouth under Blackman. For three seasons there, he was in charge of defensive ends and linebackers as Big Green teams posted an 18-9 record, including an Ivy-championship in 1966.

Following the 1968 campaign the New Hyde Park, N.Y. native was named defensive coach at the University of Connecticut under Head Coach John L. Toner. In 1971, when Toner relinquished his coaching role to become director of athletics, Casciola was chosen his successor.

His first UConn team, champions of the Yankee Conference, turned in a 5-3-1 mark, the best record by a Connecticut eleven in 12 years. Last fall, the Huskies won four and lost five and were runner-up to the University of Massachusetts in the Yankee Conference with a 4-1 record.

As a Princeton undergraduate, Casciola distinguished himself for three seasons at tackle under Caldwell's tutelage. He was one of only two sophomores to earn a starting berth, and one of only three members of his class to win three varsity letters.

Princeton teams won 21 games and lost but six from 1955-57, capturing the unofficial Ivy title in 1955 (the year before the Ivy League was formalized) and the official championship in 1957, the fall Caldwell died. In the latter season Casciola gained All-Ivy and All-East honors and was particularly effective in the Tigers' snow-enshrouded 34-14 final-game triumph over previously undefeated Dartmouth.

Prior to matriculating at Princeton, Casciola attended Mineola, N.Y. High School and The Manlius School, Manlius, N.Y. He is married to the former Janet Timm of Williston Park, N.Y. They are the parents of three daughters, Jeanne (15), Julie (9) and Lynn (6) and a son Donald (11).

During summer months Casciola and John Anderson, head coach at Brown, operate the well-known New England Football Camp at Brewster Academy in Wolfboro, N.H.

Casciola on coaching, football and Princeton

THE COACH IN THE COMMUNITY . . .

"Coaches today just cannot remove themselves from the academic community. If they do, it raises an important question about the role of athletics in a university."

RELATING TO THE PLAYERS . . .

"My attitude toward coaching has changed considerably, especially in the years I spent at Connecticut, a state school where the atmosphere was much different from any other place I had been . . . There are many reasons why a student plays football these days. Its not just the old traditional things — to please the alumni or to please the fans in the stadium. Some may play because they're turned off by other college activities. Some are looking for competition — a way to measure themselves which they haven't found in the classroom. Others are looking for some discipline. A coach has to understand that when a player leaves the field he will have other interests. He may not hurt as much after a loss. You cannot expect a 38-year-old coach and a 20-year-old player to have much in common. But they can and must have respect for each other. If you understand that, then the players will accept what you ask of them on the playing field."

ABOUT IVY LEAGUE FOOTBALL . . .

"Ivy League Football is as exciting as ever. It is great to see athletes compete because they really want to play knowing that the people they are competing against, whether it is on their own team or a Saturday opponent, are all pretty much in the same situation — carrying a heavy academic load and playing for the sheer enjoyment of it."

ALL ABOUT PRINCETON . . .

"Princeton still is a great attraction for the youngster who is looking for a residential campus where the emphasis is still on the individual attention through small classes and a high ratio of faculty to students."

JOHN BRUNNER

Offensive Coordinator

John Brunner, offensive backfield coach at Temple University for three years, is entering his third year as the offensive coordinator at Princeton.

The 37-year old Brunner is a native of East Greenville, Pa., where he attended Upper Perkiomen High School. He won varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball, was both football and basketball captain as a senior and was named the Outstanding Football Player in 1954.

John played three years of varsity football at East Stroudsburg State College and was elected captain as a senior. He received the Alumni Award in 1959 for again being the outstanding football player.

Brunner graduated from East Stroudsburg in 1960 and immediately accepted a position as offensive backfield coach at Middletown (N.Y.) High School. In 1963, he was named head coach, a post he held until 1967. In his seven years at Middletown, his teams won 38, and lost 16, tied 1 and won five league championships. He was twice named "Coach of the Year" in the Southern New York State Area.

Brunner accepted a position as offensive backfield coach at Villanova University under Jack Gregory in 1967 and was instrumental in reviving the Wildcats' football fortunes. In 1970, he moved to Temple in a similar capacity under Wayne Hardin and again distinguished himself in helping to upgrade the gridiron program.

Now living in Lawrence, N.J., Brunner and his wife Barbara are the parents of 7 children: Scott (18), Jack (17), Penny (16), Jan (13), Jeff (12), Todd (7) and Mark (6).

JOHN PETERCUSKIE

Defensive Coordinator

John Petercuskie, the defensive coordinator at Boston College from 1969-73, was named defensive coordinator at Princeton in April of 1973. A coaching colleague of Head Coach Bob Casciola from 1966 through 1968 when both served at Dartmouth under former Big Green Coach Bob Blackman, Petercuskie's primary responsibility is the defensive line.

The Old Forge, Pa., native is a 1950 graduate of East Stroudsburg State College where he captained the football team and won All-Pennsylvania honors at guard. Prior to entering East Stroudsburg, Petercuskie served in the Marine Corps and saw action on Okinawa during World War II.

He began his coaching career at Old Forge High School in 1951 and two years later moved to Neshaminy High School in Langhorne, Pa. as an assistant. In 1960, he became Neshaminy's head coach and over the next six seasons directed his teams to a phenomenal record of 59 victories and five ties in 65 games. His teams won the Lower Bucks County League title every year during his tenure at Neshaminy and three times were winners of the Big Six Eastern Conference. He was named "Coach of the Year" in the Philadelphia area on several occasions.

Petercuskie and his wife, Dorothy, are the parents of three sons: John Jr., who graduated from Boston College in 1974, Jerry, a 1975 B.C. grad., and Gary, a sophomore at Penn State.

WARREN E. HARRIS

Defensive Backfield Coach

Warren Harris has been a member of the Princeton University staff since 1962. He tutored the freshman line that year and was also the assistant basketball coach. Warren, who moved up to the varsity in 1963 as a defensive specialist, handles the defensive backs for Head Coach Bob Casciola.

A 1943 graduate of Missouri Valley College and holder of a Master's degree from Colorado State University, Harris was active in football, basketball and track as an undergraduate. He was accorded All-Conference and Little All-American recognition as a halfback in football in his senior year.

Harris has served as a backfield coach at his alma mater, supervised football and track at Edwardsville (Ill.) High School and coached football at Bethlehem (Pa.) High School. In 1956, he joined the varsity football staff at Rutgers and also became head coach of basketball. He moved to the University of Pennsylvania in 1960 where he served as end coach. Harris remained in Philadelphia until he came to Princeton in 1962.

His defensive planning has been credited with a great share of the success enjoyed by the 1963, '64 and '65 teams which posted an overall 24-3 record and allowed only 236 points.

GARY R. FALLON

Receiver Coach

After three seasons as the offensive coordinator at Ithaca College, Gary Fallon joined the Princeton staff in 1972. Again this year he will be in charge of all receivers.

A 1962 graduate of Syracuse University where he won varsity letters in football, wrestling and lacrosse, Fallon played in the 1959 Cotton Bowl and 1961 Liberty Bowl games as a running back for the Orange. He captained the Syracuse lacrosse team in 1962 and played in the North-South Game.

Fallon, 35, played professional football with the Minnesota Vikings of the National League, the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League and also in the Atlantic Coast League. Along the way, he completed requirements for his Master's degree from Syracuse which he received in 1967.

A Marine Corps veteran and collegiate official in both football and lacrosse, Fallon was a teacher and coach in the Watertown, Syracuse and Jordan-Elbridge School Districts of upstate New York before joining the staff at Ithaca College, where he enjoyed great success and helped develop Ithaca's all-time great quarterback Doug Campbell.

Gary and his wife Pat are the parents of three daughters: Kelly (13), Carrie (11) and Susan (8).

Mike Carter set a Princeton one season record for kickoff return average with a 28.7 mark for 14 returns in 1974.

LEONARD RIVERS

Offensive Line Coach

Len Rivers, assistant coach at the University of Connecticut since 1970, was named to the Princeton football staff in March of 1973. His primary responsibility is the offensive interior line. Len was also named head coach of baseball this year and assumed his duties last July.

A 1951 graduate of Princeton High School where he was active in football and track, he attended Springfield College. A participant in football, track and wrestling at Springfield, Rivers qualified for the 1956 Olympic Wrestling Trials.

In the Army from 1957 to 1959, Rivers began his coaching career in Stamford, Conn., where he worked at Stamford Catholic for six years and Rippowam High School for two. He was football assistant at both schools and helped mold three conference champions and one state championship team at Catholic. He also was head baseball and basketball coach at Catholic, leading both teams into state tournaments.

Active in community work, Rivers was Physical Director of the Stamford YMCA for two years and Director of the Southfield Village Program for three years. He was also a school board member, and was active in the Pop Warner and Babe Ruth Leagues, the NAACP, the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the United Fund.

A native of Princeton, Rivers is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Rivers, 21 Green Street, Princeton, and the brother of Dr. Robert J. Rivers Jr., Princeton 1953, Rochester, N.Y., physician, who is currently serving as a Term Trustee of the University.

AL J. WILSON

Linebacker and End Coach

Al Wilson, 37-year old defensive backfield coach at Temple University from 1970-73, was named to the Princeton football staff in 1973.

A graduate of Cressona (Pa.) High School, Wilson was a four-year standout at end, both offensively and defensively. He continued his fine football play at Ursinus College where he earned varsity letters in 1956, 1957 and 1958, again as a two-way end.

Wilson began his coaching career at North Penn High School in Lansdale, Pa. where he served for two years as an assistant. He moved for one year to Watchung Hills Regional High School in Warren, N.J. as an assistant before becoming head coach at Boiling Springs (Pa.) High School. At Boiling Springs, he presided over a marked revitalizing of the gridiron program. His teams progressed from a record of 0-10 in 1962 to their first winning mark of 7-3 in 1964 and to 9-1 in his final season.

In 1967, he was named head coach at Bald Eagle High School in Pennsylvania and guided that school to a 9-1 record and to the championship of the Central Counties Conference. One year later, Wilson became head coach at William Penn High School in Harrisburg and produced a 5-4-1 mark. The following year, at Carlisle (Pa.) High School he engineered a record of 8-2 and a Conference championship. His overall high school coaching record shows 46 victories, 33 defeats and one tie and over the last six years was an impressive 44-15-1.

Al and wife Judy are the parents of three children: Pam (14) and twin sons, Jeff and Jon (11).

Charlie Caldwell had a record of 70-30-3 during his 12 year coaching career at Princeton.

ARTIE B. WILLIAMS

Freshman Coach

A graduate of Hampton Institute in 1952 where he played defensive halfback, Artie Williams is beginning his fourth season as head freshman football coach at Princeton. He had compiled a long record of coaching and administrative achievement in the Baltimore City School system before arriving in 1972.

Williams began his coaching career after two years of Army service as chairman of the Physical Education Department at Cherry Hill Junior High School where he also coached wrestling, track, baseball and cross country. In 1960, he became assistant football coach at Frederick Douglass High School and two years later was named head coach. For nine years there he handled both football and wrestling.

In 1971, Williams was chosen athletic director at Walbrook Senior High School. A member of the Executive Committee of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, he directed a recreational swimming program at Morgan State College for eleven years.

Artie and his wife Jocelyn have four children: Roni (18), Wendy (13), David (4) and Kyle (3).

RICHARD F. MALACREA

Chief of Athletic Training and Physical Therapy

Dick Malacrea was appointed Chief of Athletic Training and Physical Therapy at Princeton University in 1968. He replaced the legendary Ed Zafirini, who had served Princeton for 35 years.

A native of Camden, N.J., Malacrea attended Drexel Institute of Technology and was graduated in 1954 from West Chester State College with a bachelor's degree in Health and Physical Education. During two years in the U.S. Army, he was assigned to work in the field of Athletics and Recreation.

Malacrea entered the University of Pennsylvania in 1956 and one year later was granted a Certificate in Physical Therapy. His first professional assignment was with the Philadelphia General Hospital and in 1958 he accepted a position as staff therapist at Frankford Hospital in Philadelphia. From 1959 until 1965, he served as Chief Therapist there. During this period, Malacrea established an in-service program of training in essentials of Physical Therapy for student nurses, served as a clinical instructor for student nurses and as Clinical Supervisor for students in Physical Therapy from the University of Pennsylvania.

In 1965, he was appointed an Assistant Professor of Physical Education at Swarthmore College where he then served as Head Trainer for all sports. Malacrea also has been a faculty member on the Upward Bound Program, sponsored by the Office of Economic Opportunity and, since September of 1967, has been Project Director of that Program.

Malacrea, who had a brief career in 1950 as a baseball player in the farm system of the Philadelphia Phillies, holds membership in the American Physical Therapy Association, the American Registry of Physical Therapists, the National Athletic Trainers Association and the Eastern Athletic Trainers Association. He served as president of the latter group.

Dick and his wife Joan are the parents of three children: Richard (17), Raymond (15) and Roberta (11).

Football, basketball and crew are the only varsity sports at Princeton where freshmen are not allowed to participate.

DR. KIYO TASHIRO

Director of Athletic Medicine

Dr. Tashiro joined the Princeton staff in 1973, after spending the previous eight years in chemical research.

At Hughes High School in Cincinnati, he won four letters each in football, baseball and track and was named as an All-State halfback on three occasions.

After earning a B.S. degree at Harvard in 1938, he entered the University of Cincinnati Medical School from where he graduated in 1944. After a brief internship, Dr. Tashiro entered the army and served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre. He has remained in the service, and is now a Colonel and Commanding Officer of the U.S. Army Reserve's 343rd Evacuation Hospital.

After service, Dr. Tashiro took post graduate work in general and thoracic Surgery and held directorships in pulmonary disease hospitals in 1957 when he entered private practice in Utica and Rome, N.Y. In 1964, he retired from practice to enter clinical research.

Dr. Tashiro has an outstanding athletic background. He won a black belt in Judo in 1934 and was a teaching professional. He played semi-pro football during medical school, and was a member of the Fifth Army All-Star team while in the service. He also played semi-pro football in the mid 60's, with current Tiger assistant coach Gary Fallon, in the Atlantic Coast League. He played his last football game at age 51 with the Newark Bears.

He and his wife Karin have eight children.

DANIEL N. WHITE

Head Coach — Lightweight Football

Since taking over as head coach of lightweight football in 1969, Dan White has been working diligently to put the Tigers back in the race for the Eastern Lightweight Football League championship. The first four years produced just two victories, but in the last two seasons, Princeton has gone 3-3 and then 4-2 and appears ready to make a serious run at the title.

A native of Washington D.C. and a 1965 Princeton graduate, White graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in D.C. At Princeton he concentrated his studies in the English Department, played 150-pound football for three seasons as both an offensive halfback and as a defensive back and was a member of the Orange Key Society.

Following his graduation from Princeton, White joined the faculty of St. Christopher's School in Richmond, Va. where he taught English and the Humanities while holding the post of head coach of lacrosse and assistant coach of football.

In 1968, White returned to Princeton as Assistant Secretary of the Alumni Council, working with Alumni Associations and Reunion Chairmen. He also helped with the coaching of lightweight football and freshman lacrosse.

White is married to the former Patricia Ann Green and has two children: Lisa Michael (born 12-20-67); and David (born 2-28-69).

Walt Snickenberger, who graduated in 1975, holds the record for most touchdowns in a season with 16. He set the mark in 1975.

THE ASA BUSHNELL CUP

The ASA S. Bushnell Cup is an annual award which was initiated in 1970 and which honors ASA S. Bushnell, Princeton '21 and commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference from 1938-70. The Bushnell Cup is presented by the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials and is awarded, by vote of the Ivy League's eight head football coaches, to that player in the League who displays outstanding qualities of sportsmanship, leadership, competitive spirit, contribution to the team and accomplishments on the field.

The co-recipients of the Bushnell Cup in 1970 were Jim Chasey, Dartmouth quarterback, and Ed Marinaro, Cornell halfback.

The recipient in 1971 was Ed Marinaro and in 1972 the recipient was Dick Jauron, Yale's All-America running back. Jim Stoeckel of Harvard was the winner in 1973 while Princeton's Walt Snickenberger won the award last year.

Princeton outscored its opponents 349-94 in 1950, and 310-82 in 1951 as it rolled to a pair of perfect 9-0 seasons.

1975 PROSPECTUS

OVERALL LOOK: After suffering through three losing seasons, Princeton University football regained a touch of respectability last year with a 4-4-1 record. Not bad since the Tigers were coming off a 1-8-0 campaign in 1973.

The 1975 Tiger contingent could well be the best since the '69 team which shared the Ivy crown with Dartmouth and Yale. And yes the Tigers are legitimate contenders.

Head coach Bob Casciola has 30 lettermen back for his third year at the helm, and the one quality he likes about the '75 team is the strength at skill positions like quarterback, linebacker and wide receiver. In addition his offensive line could be the school's best since 1969.

"Overall we have depth in just about every position," Casciola remarked. "Our only depth worries at this point are the defensive tackle posts, and finding someone to back up our punter Mike Stein. However those problems may be solved once pre-season gets under a full head of steam."

"I won't predict an Ivy League title, but I do feel we are one of the top contenders. We lost some close games last year, but the experience we gained was invaluable. We improved in just about every facet of our offense and defense and most of the key people are back this year to make us even better."

As far as the Ivy race is concerned, Casciola feels Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth and Brown are the top contenders. "Penn lost some fine personnel," he said, "and is a question mark right now. So is Cornell. However both could turn into contenders in a hurry. Columbia figures to be better. They had a great attitude last year, and like our '73 team have the ability to bounce back and be a winner."

MAJOR LOSSES: The biggest one was All-American halfback Walt Snickenberger who gained 1041 yards rushing last year and scored 16 touchdowns . . . The Tigers will also miss standout defensive tackle Tom Schalch, offensive tackle Tony Biagas and tight end Bob Harding, who had outstanding years for the '74 team.

MAJOR PROBLEMS: Possible lack of depth on the defensive line, a back-up for punter Mike Stein, replacing Snickenberger, Harding Biagas and Schalch, who were all standout performers, and improvement of the pass rush.

MAJOR STRENGTHS: The offensive backfield, where starters quarterback Ron Beible, fullback Bob Reid and wide receiver Neil Chamberlin all return; the defensive backfield: the linebacker posts; and the kicking game. The offensive line could be tough if sophomores come through.

OFFENSE

CENTER: If senior Warren Gorrell has recovered from his neck injury of last season, Tigers will have excellent depth here. Dan Calvo started the last four games and did a superb job. Senior Dan McGillicuddy lends good support . . . Calvo has lead the battle for starting spot, but he will have lots of competition from Gorrell.

GUARDS: All-Ivy performer Joe Zajac and Jack Basta, the starters last year, return along with Rich LaChappelle, who backed them up . . . McGillicuddy may also be used at guard. . . . Top freshman prospects are Joe Maiocco and Matt Gourlay . . . Maiocco is an especially bright prospect . . . Good experience and depth here.

TACKLES: The loss of Tony Biagas will be felt . . . He had super season for the '74 Tigers . . . Kevin Fox, a starter last year until he suffered a broken leg in 7th game of season, is back and so is Mark Wright, who started over the last half of the season and did a fine job . . . Another returnee is reserve man Verne Sedlacek . . . All on two quality prospects from last year's freshman team, Bill Leoniy and John Fahey, and this position looks strong . . . Either one of the sophomores could start . . . There is good size here with Wright, Zajac and Sedlacek all hitting 230 and the two frosh going between 220-225.

RECEIVERS: Tigers seem to be fairly solid here. At split end, incumbent Kevin Gropp will get a strong run for the starting post from junior Dan Fournier, while veteran flanker Neil

Chamberlin will be pushed by sophomore Glenn Robinson, who enjoyed a fine season with the freshman team last year . . . Gropp, Chamberlin and Fournier ranked 1-3-4 in receiving in 1974 . . . Junior Todd Jacobson, a fine prospect, and senior Bill Kahl-Winter look like the major contestants for the tight end slot which Bob Harding filled so well for two years . . . Bruce Hesterberg, a 6-5, 220 pounder will be the main hope off last year's freshman team.

QUARTERBACK: A very strong position for the Tigers with Ron Beible, starter for the last two years, his top back-up man from last season, Greg Adams, junior Jack Flannery and a fine sophomore prospect in Kirby Lockhart all set to go after the starting position . . . Beible is the man to beat, but the other three players will be pushing hard."

RUNNING BACKS: When you lose a Snickenberger," head coach Bob Casciola said, "You lose someone special" . . . Replacing "Snick," who gained 2241 yards in three years, will be tough . . . On hand to try are a quartet of good, fleet runners in seniors Kevin Kaufman and Fran Allen, juniors Mike Carter and Mike Howard, and sophomores Bobby Isom and Gary Sholly . . . Carter was a super return man last season, and could be a big threat as a runner . . . Isom is the man to watch, though. He has all the tools to be a great one . . . Two year starter Bob Reid is back at fullback being challenged by junior Art Walker and hard working John Anderson, a standout for the freshman team in '74 along with Isom . . . Princeton should be solid here all season long.

DEFENSE

ENDS: Aaron Satterthwaite, a two year starter, is a fine player, and Mark Faurie could be as good if he can stay away from injuries, which hampered him the last two years. Faurie started the first half of the season until the injuries set-in . . . Also on hand will be junior Hank Howarth, who worked at free safety last year, and Tom Gibson, who was hurt most of the year . . . Both are excellent end prospects, as are sophomores Tim Earley and Bill Mitchell who started for the frosh last season . . . Basically a strong position for the Tigers.

TACKLES: Both starters, Tom Schalch and Dale Spergel, have graduated . . . However the three men who backed them up and played a lot last year, juniors Steve Fletcher, Ted Schiller and Randy Gress, are all back and will be joined by three fine sophomore prospects, Jerry Fitzgibbons, Tim Edwards and Joe Prochak . . . Edwards and Prochak started for the frosh last season, and will both be up around the 230 mark by the time the season starts . . . If injuries are kept to a minimum, and the sophs realize their potential, this could also be a strong post for the Tigers.

MIDDLE GUARD: With last year's top two starters back, in the persons of Jay Dawson and Jimmy Williamson, and a blue chip prospect in sophomore Doug Lang, head coach Bob Casciola has little to worry about here . . . The unit is a talented, quick, hard-hitting trio that will be a big plus on defense.

LINEBACKERS: Again another strong area for the Tigers . . . Last year's starters Steve Lang and Ken Frederick return along with a very promising junior in Paul McKeon, who was a starter for the Varsity "B" team . . . The defensive staff also likes the looks of the 1974 frosh starters Jim Gislason and Mike Dailey . . . A very impressive corps of linebackers is one reason for the optimism among Tiger followers this year.

DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD: Casciola rates this area as one of the best on the team . . . Heading the way is strong safety Ed Sheridan, who will serve as team captain this year; corner backs Tom Palmer and Rich Monaghan, who were both starters last year, and junior Rich Hopstock who was a starter as a sophomore, but who did not attend school last Fall . . . That cast will get support from Gunars Dreifuss, who saw much action last year until he was injured, Pete Bartlett, a highly regarded junior and a starter for the J.V. team last season; plus the top prospect from last year's freshman team — Kevin Hagerty . . . Casciola rightfully expects this to be one of the team's strengths.

KICKING: Overall the Tigers have one of the best all-around kicking squads in the east . . . Placekicker Scotty Morrison has emerged as a long distance scoring threat, a fine kickoff man and a sure foot on PAT's . . . He has a competent back-up in Mark Skof and a potential job seeker in sophomore Jerry Howe, who did quite well for the Tigers last season . . . Punter Mike Stein improved the Tiger average by 10 yards a kick last season over 1973 . . . Sophomore defensive back Kevin Hagerty will back up Stein . . . Kicking has a lot to do with the Varsity's four victories last season, and will have a lot to say about Princeton's chances for an Ivy League title this season.

PRINCETON PLAYER BIOGRAPHIES

Princeton's 104th Football Captain

EDWARD "Ed" SHERIDAN Sr. 21 5-11 170 Sparta, N. J.
MAJOR: Psychology Free Safety CAREER OBJECTIVE: Undecided

Princeton Background . . . Ed was a numeral winner with the 1972 freshman football team and with the 1973 freshman baseball squad . . . As a sophomore, he won the starting defensive backfield position in the final two games, and played exceptionally well totaling 14 tackles and one interception . . . Last year he started every game at free safety, ranking 4th in team tackles with 100 and leading the Tigers in interceptions with four . . . He just missed tying the school one season mark of five . . . Ed's all around play and his team leadership were major reasons for his popular election as team captain for this season . . . He was named to ECAC weekly team for his play vs. Colgate and was named "Defensive Back of the Game" by the coaches on three occasions and "Defensive Player of the Game" twice . . .

Casciola Comment . . . "He's a smart, alert, aggressive player who holds the defensive secondary together. Ed does not have great speed but he does have a great knowledge of the game and an instinct for the ball which you can't teach, and he keeps mistakes to the absolute minimum." . . .

Secondary School Background . . . Sheridan attended Sparta High School where he produced an outstanding varsity record, winning three letters each in football, basketball and baseball and serving as captain of all three teams as a senior . . . In football, he won All-County honors for three years, as a quarterback, and All-Suburban honors for two years and All-Conference for one . . . He also won All-County honors in both basketball and baseball . . .

Ed played his football under Richard Cassels . . . Personal Background . . . He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sheridan of 18 Oak Parkway in Sparta, and is the fourth oldest of five children.

MAJOR: Civil Engineering QB CAREER OBJECTIVE: Business School

Princeton Background . . . Greg served as the Tigers number two quarterback last season, completing 12x27 passes for 173 yards and rushing 12 times for 47 yards . . . As a freshman, he saw extensive action and then handled some junior varsity quarterback work as a sophomore . . . Adams has good speed and a strong throwing arm . . . His quickness is an asset in Tigers Veeer option series . . . Greg was a letterman for the 1974 varsity baseball team when he hit .308 in a reserve role, and again last Spring when he hit .280 . . . Casciola's Comment . . . "Greg worked hard to improve last year and did a fine job for us, especially against Yale. We would use him any time. A good strong runner, and he knows our offense cold." . . .

Secondary School Background . . . Greg attended Bethlehem (Pa.) Catholic High School where he won three letters each in football, basketball and baseball . . . As a senior, he captained the football team and was named to the All-League teams in football and baseball . . . He played his football under Mike Brannon . . .

Personal Information . . . Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Adams of 753 Longwood Drive in Lake Forest, and is the oldest of four children.

FRANCIS "Fran" ALLEN Sr. 21 5-10 190 Franklin, Mass.
MAJOR: History Offensive Back CAREER OBJECTIVE: Law

Princeton Background . . . Fran has been a starter for the junior varsity team for the past two seasons after seeing extensive action with the '72 freshman team . . . As a sophomore, Allen logged 300 yards in 50 carries for a 6.0 average and scored five touchdowns . . . Last year, he carried 36 times for 230 yards, a 6.4 average and two touchdowns . . . He will be a strong challenger for a varsity post this year . . . Casciola Comment . . . "A very talented runner, who has been standing in the wings for the past two years because of Walt Snickenberger. He will have his best chance to start this year. A quick runner with improving strength." . . .

Secondary School Background . . . Fran attended Franklin High School where he won three letters each in football, basketball and baseball . . . He twice won All-League football honors, and as a senior captained the Franklin high team and won All-State honors . . . That same year he also won All-League baseball honors . . . Fran played under Garry Leone . . . Personal Back- ground . . . He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Allen of 315 Lincoln Street in Franklin, and is the second youngest of six children . . . His older brother Phil played at Harvard . . . Hobbies . . . fishing and water sports.

Princeton's director of athletic medicine, Dr. Kiyo Tashiro, played football in the Atlantic Coast League at the age of 50.

JOHN ANDERSON      So. 19 6-2 205 W. Bridgewater, Mass.
MAJOR: Civil Eng.      Off. B.      CAREER OBJECTIVE: Civil Eng.-Arch.

Princeton Background . . . John was one of the sparkplugs for the Tiger freshman team last season . . . The 6-2, 190 pound halfback logged 335 yards in 42 carries for a sparkling 8.0 average and also scored three touchdowns . . . In addition, he caught four passes for 36 yards . . . Casciola Comment . . . "He was the fastest back on the freshman team last year, John has deceiving speed because of his long loping stride. He's also an excellent blocker. We feel he can be a fine college running back."

Secondary School Background . . . Anderson attended West Bridgewater High School where he earned three letters each in football, basketball and track during an impressive high school career . . . John served as co-captain of both football and basketball and also received All-League, All-County and All-America honors in each sport . . . He won the State Class D 220 yard dash title in 1973 . . . Anderson played his football under Doug Bromley . . . Personal Background . . . John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Anderson of 11 Norman Avenue in West Bridgewater, and is the youngest of four children

PETER "Pete" BARTLETT      Jr. 20 6-1 188 Rosemont, Pa.
MAJOR: Politics      Defensive Back      CAREER OBJECTIVE: Business

Princeton Background . . . Pete was a regular with the 1973 freshman team and then started at defensive halfback for the junior varsity last season . . . He could be a sleeper in the battle for defensive backfield positions this year . . . Casciola Comment . . . "Pete showed enough in junior varsity games last year, and in his limited varsity playing time, to rate as a player whom we can use in any situation. Good prospect who will push hard for a starting job."

Secondary School Background . . . Pete attended Radnor High School where he won three letters in football, two in basketball and one each in tennis and volleyball . . . He captained the varsity basketball team and won All-League and All-County honors . . . He played his football under George Hopson . . . Personal Background . . . Pete is the son of Mrs. Barbara Bartlett of 424 Wyldhaven Road in Rosemont, and is the second youngest of four children . . . Hobbies . . . photography

JOHN "Jack" BASTA"      Sr. 21 5-10 203 Old Forge, Pa.
MAJOR: Religion      Offensive Guard      CAREER OBJECTIVE: Undecided

Princeton Background . . . Jack Basta rates as one of the most versatile members of the 1975 varsity . . . He was a linebacker for the 1972 freshman team and then lettered for the Tigers' varsity as a linebacker in 1973 . . . Last year, the Tigers faced a depth problem on the offensive line so Basta was moved to offensive guard where he responded with a tremendous season, starting five games . . . Jack was hurt in the Yale game but came back, after missing a week of practice with a cast on his leg, to play a great game in the team's 41-20 win over Cornell . . . Jack was a mainstay of the varsity baseball team the past two years . . . As a sophomore, he worked mainly in a reserve role, hitting .270 and fielding very well . . . This past season, he started almost every game and had a solid .326 average . . . Casciola Comment . . . "Jack filled a big gap in the line for us last season. When you consider that he moved to offense just before the first game, and that he was a starter, you have to admire his work . . . Hard-nosed, dependable and quick . . . A good pulling guard."

Secondary School Background . . . Basta attended Old Forge High School where he won three letters each in football, basketball and baseball, and captained all three teams as a senior . . . He won All-League and All-Conference honors in football as a junior and senior and All-Conference baseball honors as a senior . . . Basta played his football under Elio Ghigiarelli . . . Personal Background . . . Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Basta of 186 Drakes Lane in Old Forge, and is the younger of two children.

MAJOR: Civil Eng. QB CAREER OBJECTIVE: Eng.-Business

Princeton Background . . . After missing most of his freshman year with injuries, Ron won the starting job in the opening game of the 1973 season, has been there ever since and has established himself as one of the finest quarterbacks in the Ivy League . . . As a sophomore, he completed 79x161 passes for 1023 yards, four touchdowns and a completion percentage of .491 . . . Last year he was 91x187 for 1136 yards, a .486 completion percentage and four touchdowns . . . His 170 career completions are just two short of the school record, his 348 attempts are only three short of the Tiger career mark and his 2,159 yards are just 333 short of the career record . . . Ron ran well last year, but most of his yardage was negated by losses attempting to pass . . . He scored one touchdown . . . A key one in the team's 14-7 win over Dartmouth . . . Ron was named "Offensive Player of the Game" by the coaches last season for his play against Dartmouth and Penn. . . . Casciola Comment . . . "When you look back at Ron before his sophomore year and realize that he played little or no freshman ball and then look at him today and see that he will hold every school passing record, it's amazing. He's as good a quarterback as there is in the League. A good leader. He'll run more this year. He showed great improvement there last year." . . . Secondary School Background . . . Ron attended Cumberland Valley High School where he earned three letters in football and one each in basketball, track and baseball . . . He won All-County honors as a senior . . . Ron played his football under Harry Chapman . . . Personal Background . . . He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Beible of 221 Resser Road in Camp Hill, and is the younger of two children.

DANIEL "Dan" CALVO" Jr. 20 5-11½ 230 Latrobe, Pa.
MAJOR: Biochemistry Center CAREER OBJECTIVE: Business

Princeton Background . . . Dan was a starter at offensive tackle for the 1973 freshman team, but last year was switched to center in pre-season workouts . . . Dan saw limited action until late in the season when he won the starting position for the last three games . . . A good competitor, he figures to be the man to beat for the starting role again this year . . . Casciola Comment . . . "Dan was a very pleasant surprise last year. We switched him to center in pre-season and he played super football for us. He made few mistakes and has fine strength and speed for the center position. The year's experience will make him even better this year." . . . Secondary School Background . . . Dan attended Derry Area High School where he won two letters each in football and track . . . He captained both teams as a senior, won All-Conference football honors and was awarded a scholar-athlete award by the county . . . He played his football under Joe Bellissimo . . . Personal Background . . . MICHAEL "Mike" CARTER* Jr. 20 5-10 188 Omaha, Nebraska
MAJOR: Psychology Off. Back CAREER OBJECTIVE: Undecided

Princeton Background . . . Mike turned out to be one of the team's most exciting performers last season, despite the fact that he did not play football in his freshman year . . . Carter ranked 3rd in the nation in kickoff return average in 1974, returning 14 kicks for 402 yards and a 28.7 average . . . He also returned seven punts for 53 yards and a 7.6 average . . . His 28.7 average established a new Princeton one season mark, and his 148 yards in returns against Colgate, including a 91 yarder, was the second best overall effort in Princeton history . . . This year, Mike looks like a strong candidate for a starting halfback position . . . He won two weekly coaches awards last year for his kickoff return work . . . Casciola Comment . . . "Mike had an explosive year for us and what many people tend to forget is that he is more than a kick return man. Mike will see a lot of work at halfback this year and he could be a fine receiver for us coming out of the backfield as well. Mike is capable of breaking one for a t.d. at any time. He was a key in two of our wins last year."

Secondary School Background . . . Mike attended Central High School in Omaha where he won three letters in football . . . He also won All-City and All-State honors and played in the Nebraska Shrine All-Star game . . . He played his high school ball under Bob Lowery . . . Personal Background . . . Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Carter of 4833 Spaulding Street in Omaha, and is the second oldest of three children . . . Hobbies . . . music.

MAJOR: English Flanker Back CAREER OBJECTIVE: Law

Princeton Background . . . Neil was the leading pass catcher for the 1972 freshman team and was a top reserve in his sophomore year, catching 14 passes for 141 yards and one t.d. . . . Last year, he caught 21 passes for 305 yards, a solid 14.5 per catch average and two touchdowns while starting every game as the Tigers' flanker back . . . Neil won two weekly coaches awards for his play last season . . . This year he will again be at that post . . . Neil's 35 receptions leaves him just 23 behind the school second place career mark of 58, and 40 behind record of 75 . . . A starter with the '73 frosh baseball team, Neil has lettered for the varsity, the past two seasons, at both shortstop and in left field . . . Casciola Comment . . . "Aggressive, runs patterns well and has a great pair of hands, especially in a crowd. He made some remarkable catches last year. Fine athlete, clutch player and an outstanding young man in every respect."

Secondary School Background . . . Neil attended Westfield High School where he won three letters each in football and baseball . . . In football, he was an All-Conference, All-County and All-State selection and helped lead Westfield to three undefeated seasons and three State titles . . . In baseball, he was team captain and also won All-County and All-Conference honors . . . Neil played his high school football under Gary Kehler . . . Personal Background . . . He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Chamberlin, Jr. of 1 Burgess Court in Westfield, and is the older of two children . . . Neil's father played defensive end and tackle for Army in 1950 and 1951.

ANTHONY "Tony" MAIOCCO So. 19 6-1 205 Woburn, Mass.
MAJOR: Undecided Off. Guard CAREER OBJECTIVE: Undecided

Princeton Background A starter at offensive guard for the Tiger freshman team last season, and rated one of the most versatile members of the offensive line. Will be a definite candidate for a starter's berth this season. Casciola Comment Capable of winning a starting job this year. A real important man in our offensive line plans. Hard worker, good reactions, a hard hitter and has good size. He could be used at guard or tackle. Secondary Background Tony attended Woburn High School where he won three letters each in football, wrestling and track. He was an All-American and All-League selection in football and also played in the Harry Agganis all-star game. In wrestling he was co-captain of his team and a sectional champion, and in track set the school discus record as a senior while serving as co-captain. MAJOR: W. Wilson School Cent. CAREER OBJECTIVE: Undecided

Princeton Background Dan will be entering his third year of varsity competition. He has been a member of the Tiger speciality teams for the past two years while seeing limited duty at center. One of the most popular members of the team, he should see more extensive varsity action this year. Casciola Comment "One of the finest guys I've met in coaching. He doesn't play a lot but he works hard, contributes a lot in practice and when he does get into a game, he contributes there as well. We plan to use Dan at both offensive guard and center this year. No one works harder than this guy." Secondary School Background Dan attended Don Bosco High School in Ramsey, New Jersey where he won three letters each in football, basketball and track. As a senior, he captained the football team and won All-League honors. He played his football under George Pfanner. Personal Background Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGillicuddy of 13 Fairview Terrace in Suffern, and is the youngest of four children. In 1973, he converted 10 of 12 extra point attempts and hit on five of ten field goals good for 25 points and second place in team scoring . . . As a junior, he showed improvement in all facets of the game, converting on 18x22 extra points and six of nine field goal tries . . . His 36 points ranked him second on the team in that department . . . Another plus with Scott's kicking last year came on kickoffs that saw him frequently keep opponents inside their own 20 yard line . . . He was named as "Co-Offensive Player of the Game" by the coaches for his work in the '74 Yale game . . . Casciola Comment . . . "Scotty has made outstanding progress in his kicking game. He is a great weapon for our defense with kickoffs and is now capable of connecting on a field goal from long range. One of the real plus factors on this year's team." . . . Secondary School Background . . . Scott attended the Pingry School where he won three letters each in football and lacrosse and captained the lacrosse team as a senior . . . He also won All-County honors in football that year . . . ## PRINCETON RECORDS

*Princeton's (and College Football's) Modern Records begin with the 1937 season — the first year of official, standardized record-keeping by the NCAA. Therefore, most of college football's statistical records prior to 1937 are lost to history. However, through responsible research, some records for that period have been validated. In recognition of those achievements and for historical purposes and a point of reference, pre-1937 performances which surpass a Modern Record are also listed and are indicated by an asterisk (*).*
